Lookin' Around with 'Mac'

A friend whom I've known intimately for 20 years writes, commenting on the candidate recommendations which appeared in this column two weeks ago. He recalls a time when "the very thought of supporting a Republican reactionary was practically grounds for separation from the body politic." And he taunts me with his memory of a "McKenney who wouldn't be caught looking at a circus elephant" but he is duly thankful that things are different now.

It had not occurred to me in recent years that I had ever been anything but an anti-New Dealer. The change must have taken place gradually over many years. I voted for Hoover on my first ballot, did not swing to FDR until 1936, then regretted my adventures in practical liberalism. Truman to me has always been a small-time politician burdened by mediocrity but gifted with political good fortune.

Actually, my political thinking has not changed a great deal. But what was ultra-liberal 20 years ago is hard-shell conservatism today. No great pressure has been exerted on me to cause resentment against the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. But I think my attitude is reflected by millions of small businessmen who see the so-called Fair Deal as a long step toward Socialism and a real menace to the institutions which make their livelihood possible.

The Democratic party under Truman has enjoyed an unprecedented period of prosperity. No matter what party had secured dominance, that post-war economic upswing could not have been stopped. In the face of that unearned record is it any wonder that the Democrats have remained solidly in power?

Is it inconsistent for a businessman to enjoy prosperity on one hand but at the same time to resent the growing power of the political party which claims the credit for that prosperity? I don't think so and here's why:

1. The prosperity we talk about is a fictitious thing. When I started in business 20 years ago I charged $7 for the same printing job I must get $15.50 for now in order to make the same ratio of profit. And now my profits are taxed at least 20 percent higher than they were. Which leaves me with less than I had. We handle more money now and the inflation has probably stimulated greater volume, which creates a false impression of economic improvement.

2. There was no fair trade practices act, no social security, virtually no income tax, no wage and hour law, and darned few government regulations which touched my small business when I started out. Now it takes a lawyer to interpret the rules which govern an employer. And the man who creates jobs by his ingenuity, aggressiveness, and industry is lucky if he escapes fines, penalties, reprimand, or confiscation in the normal conduct of his business.

3. It has long been axiomatic in America that a man was free to enter business if he chose, that he could learn to take his chances in the hard school of competition. In the old days it made strong men but today if an enterpriser showns signs of business leadership, government steps in to slap him back into place. Government directs the course of business by controlling the interest rates of capital, imposing tax burdens which stifle investment opportunities, and imposing operational regulations. Not just in the field of "big business' but in very small business, too.

I sound like a sour old man, as though I have lost all perspective and optimism. That's unfair because I'm a registered Republican and that requires hope if nothing else.

MASONS START NEW CENTURY IN GRAND MANNER

Nevada Lodge No. 13, F. & A. M. has passed the hardest stretch —the first hundred years.

The lodge celebrated the centennial Saturday and Sunday in the grand manner with three Past Grand Masters participating in the ceremonies. Joseph F. Stenger, for the second time the Worshipful Master of the local lodge, presided at the closed program. Stenger was Worshipful Master of Nevada Lodge in 1906.

Past Grand Masters on the program were William H. Taylor, Burlingame, PGM of the Philippine Islands; George L. Jones, Nevada City, PGM of California; and Leslie E. Wood, Sacramento, PGM of California, and principal speaker of the evening.

Also in attendance was Grand Senior Warden Louis C. Drapeau of Los Angeles.

James Snell, judge of Nevada county superior court, briefly described formation of Lafayette Lodge 29 on charter from Wisconsin Grand Lodge of California on April 21, 1850, and some of the principal personalities of Nevada Lodge 13, successor of the Lafayette lodge.

More than 150 Masons attended the Saturday night program and partook of the baked ham dinner served by Evangeline Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

The tables were decorated with a centennial theme of gold pans with nuggets lying on table pieces of red roses, while each table received its light from an old time kerosene lamp.

Historical artifacts of the lodge were on exhibit in one of the outer halls.

Five 50-year members of Nevada lodge, four of whom were present Saturday night, were the guests of honor and to whom the evening was formally dedicated. They are Benjamin Hall with 60 years of service and dean of the local lodge; Stenger, 54; George Legg, 52; Thomas Coan, 51; and Alfred Martin, 59. Martin was unable to attend.

More than 1,000 persons attended a two-hour concert Sunday afternoon at the high school auditorium by the Ben Ali Shrine band and Chanters of Sacramento, to climax the centennial celebration.

FOUR COLLEGE DEGREES OWNED BY MEMBERS OF JACKSON FAMILY

Three sons of Mrs. Mary Jackson, Camptonville, won academic degrees at the University of California last week. Mrs. Jackson, a short gray-haired widow, won her own degree at Chico State college in 1948, which now makes the Jackson family a quartet of college graduates.

Hugh M. Jackson, 27, received his master degree in political science, William R. Jackson, 25, got his master degree in history, and Dan Jackson, 23, won his bachelor of arts degree in economics. All took part in the commencement exercises at the Berkeley campus last week, then left to take summer jobs with the forest service. None of the three brothers are married.

Mrs. Jackson, whose husband died 12 years ago, has been a teacher in the county's rural schools but expects to give up teaching to go into business. She said she hopes to open a "Southern Style Dinner' 'establishment at her home place on the Downieville highway near Camptonville, serving dinners in true Alabama style.

ROCK FIND MAY HAVE PREHISTORIC ORIGIN

A stone, which may be of prehistoric origin, containing aboriginal lines and circles, and a definite relief outline of a large lizard, was found by Art Hansen, of the Peardale district, recently in the You Bet country.

Hansen said the rock is entirely different from the rock of the region where he found it and it shows erosion.

ACTION IS EXPECTED SOON ON ARMORY

John L. Larue, city attorney for Nevada City, received word yesterday afternoon from Senator Harold Johnson, Roseville, that Governor Earl Warren has placed the Nevada City armory on top priority and that action can soon be expected on the project.

WAYNE BROWN WINS SHERIFF'S RUN BY 47 VOTES

Wayne Brown, Grass Valley oil distributor, was elected sheriff of Nevada county by a margin of 47 votes over incumbent Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins, with the counting of absentee balolts last Tuesday. Of the 252 absentee ballots Hoskins received 146 and Brown 104 to bring the final count to 3,660 for Brown and 3,613 for Hoskins.

The absentee ballots changed the race for constable of Nevada township with Joe Tredennick edging out Bert E. Johnson by six votes, after Johnson had a lead of two after the June 6 primary.

Tredennick will run off with W. O. Shipley in the November general election.

Shipley retained his lead with 821 votes, Tredennick polled 689 and Johnson had 683.

Ed J. Kohler, North San Juan, remained in second place, to be the opponents to Guy Robinson, Indian Springs, in the November run-off for supervisor from the fourth district. Robinson had a total of 217 with seven absentee ballots, and Kohler picked up six for a total of 126.

C. L. "Mitch" Painter replaced Henry Magonigal for third place picking up 13 votes for a total of 115. Magonigal had 113 votes.

GOLD CROWN MINE STARTS OPERATIONS IN ALLEGHANY AREA

The Gold Crown mine in Alleghany began operations last week with Foreman Howard Martin throwing the switch that shot the first round to symbolize the start of work.

The drift round was shot on the 100 foot level which will drift onto a gold bearing quartz vein 100 to 150 feet north where it will pick up an ore chute in that vicinity. Serpentine was encountered at the bottom of a 100 foot shaft. Other formations such as schist, relief quartsite, etc, which are peculiar to the Alleghany district, are also in evidence.

The Gold Crown is a Nevada corporation with headquarters at the Nevada Agency and Trust company in Reno and is domesticated to do business in the state of California with business headquarters at the Gold Crown Mining Corp. in Alleghany.

Excerpts from a report by J. D. Hubbard regarding the Gold Crown mine are as follows:

"To me the Alleghany district of California has always been a standout of gold mining. Politics, depressions, etc., have not touched it at all. Adverse conditions such as high costs, low market for gold, still do not stop it. Since 1848, over 100 years, it has not stopped producing gold for a single day. It has a remarkable even fabulous history. Today its mines are still great and far from being worked out. It has a great future.

"In the case of the Gold Crown mine, all the favorable factors of the district apply. Moreover, it is a new mine, in a way more favorable outlook than many of the extensively worked mines. In my more than 50 years experience in mining I have not run onto a more likely property. In my opinion it will become a great mine under proper management and diligent development."

Louis Delamothe is president and Harriette Duke is secretary-treasurer.

Due to lack of attendance the regularly scheduled meeting of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening was dismissed without action.

SOFGE, CULLEN RESIGN FROM CITY COUNCIL

The council of the City of Nevada now has only three members—Mayor Thomas H. Taylor, and Councilmen William E. Mullis and Marvin E. Haddy.

The council was decreased last night by the resignation of H. F. "Si" Sofge, whose retirement was accepted with regrets. Sofge gave ill health as his reason for retirement from office, saying "the doctor ordered me to."

Leo Cullen created the other vacancy when he resigned last week.

The council took no action on appointments to the vacancies.

The airport commission consisting of H. J. Ray, retired admiral; Miles D. Coughlin, city judge, and William Swain, airport operator, submitted a long report about the airport to the council last night.

Cullen resigned from the council at the regular session Thursday evening of last week.

Cullen said he is leaving Nevada City to accept a position with a hardware firm as district salesman.

In actions of the council last week it granted $250 to the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce to be used toward financing the Fourth of July celebration and authorized necessary police aid in closing off Pine between Commercial and Broad during the celebration.

Ray Spickelmier, president of the chamber and chairman of the Fourth of July celebration committee, presented the request.

The council signed an agreement with the Nevada Irrigation District under which the NID is to supply 400 feet of four-inch pipe for a fire protection line in the Brock tract along the southern line of the city. The pipe will be installed by the city. The agreement will permit the city to place fire hydrants on the line at a cost of $5 per hydrant per year.

The camp will operate from June 25 to July 30 comprising three weeks of regular Boy Scout camp program and two weeks of the Explorer or older boy program. Following this there will be a small crew retained for a work project week from July 30 to Aug. 6.

Scout leaders who will serve at the camp in addition to Ewan, who will be camp director, will include Del Raby, field executive, who will serve as assistant director and director of the Explorer program; J. M. "Red" Warner, Fred Knudsen and Don Graham, of Auburn; Willard Rose, Phil Crenshaw and Al Neep of Grass Valley; Jack Shuman and Ralph Baker, of Penryn, Sayre Hutting, Ron Brill, Phil Leak, Dr. Mitchell Lewis and R. R. Schneider, of Roseville. John Knapp, an experience Scout camp cook, of Loomis, will be camp cook. Dow Alexander, of Gold Flat, will be archery instructor during part of the camp.

WILLIAMS SENTENCE IS EXPECTED TODAY

Edward L. Williams, 26, Grass Valley truck driver, and former employee of a local hotel, will be sentenced today in Yuba county superior court following submission last Friday of a guilty plea to the murder of Theodore O. Case, 45, fruit belt worker, at the Timbuctoo area of the Yuba river valley.

Williams shot Case four times in the back and head when he thought Case had discovered that Williams had looted the murdered man's truck.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO NSJ FESTIVAL THIS WEEKEND

All roads in Nevada county go to North San Juan this weekend for the annual Cherry Carnival and Festival tomorrow and Sunday.

Dancing Saturday night will start the festival off for its two days of carnival fun and frolic, according to Ed J. Kohler, chairman of the carnival. Kohler is president of the North San Juan, Camptonville and Vicinity Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the festival.

The queen of the carnival will be crowned at 1 a.m. Sunday at the dance in Twamley hall. Balloting will continue until midnight tomorrow.

Candidates for queen of the 1950 carnival include:

Miss Gertrude Rhodes, Miss Phyllis Porter, Miss Donna Lee Jones, Miss Diela Church, North San Juan; Miss Eleanor Boozel, Rough and Ready; Miss Fern Mae Bartsch, Camptonville; and Miss Margie Duggan, Sweetland.

Wes Wyllie and his Night Owls will furnish music for the Saturday dancing which is scheduled to last from 9 p.m. until such time as when the crowd will let the orchestra go home.

The big Sunday parade is set for 1 p.m.

A dozen beautiful show horses from the famous Sunny Lane Farms on Highway 20 will enter the parade Sunday, Kohler said last night. Mr. Lane, owner of the blue-bloods, promised to bring a group of fine horses for the day in special trailers.

Three prizes will be offered for floats. Many county organizations will be represented in riding and marching groups.

HARRY TRUMAN, BUT NOT THE PRESIDENT, IS MUSEUM VISITOR

The name of Harry Truman on the register of the Nevada County Historical Museum last weekend caused momentary excitement among the custodians, but conversation with the man, who hails from Hollywood, regretfully admitted he was not even related to the president of the U. S.

Truman was one of 81 persons who visited the museum over the weekend. Out-of-state visitors to register were Mrs. Alice and Mary Bradwell, Vancouver, B. C.; Emil Szugsalies, Seattle, Wash.; C. J. Custin, Fort Wayne, Ind., and C. W. Lohr, Philadelphia, Pa.

Visitors to the museum, which is located at 214 Main street, in Nevada City, have expressed an interest in a bulletin board display devoted to the activities of the Nevada County Historical Society. Organized in November, 1944, this very active group has erected many historical markers, maintains the museum, enters a float in the Fourth of July parades, conducts an annual excursion, and sponsors a yearly historical pageant or cavalcade.

Newspaper clippings of outstanding speakers and pictures of some of the officers are included in the display. The organization's motto, "Nevada county's greatest one dollar value," is most appropriate as a year's membership at this reasonable sum enables the society to carry on its many activities. The museum custodians who are in charge of signing persons for membership say that former Nevada county residents compose one-half of the total membership.

The historical museum will be open this Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mrs. Harriet Farmer and Mrs. Fannie Eden are the custodians.

MCCLOUD COACH ACCEPTS POST AT HIGH SCHOOL

Thomas Nelson, graduate of the University of North Dakota, and for the past few years coach at McCloud high school in Siskiyou county, has accepted the athletic coaching post of Nevada City high school, according to Ed A. Frantz, principal of the school.

Nelson was chosen from a list of applicants at a meeting of the board of trustees of Nevada City unified school district Monday.

Nelson played varsity football for three years at North Dakota, serving as captain one year. He also participated in track and basketball.

In addition to coaching athletics Nelson will teach social science and mathematics.

Frantz and Lloyd Geist, principal of the elementary school, were awarded three-year contracts at the board meeting.

John D. Conway, whose resignation was effected last month, was rehired to fill a vacancy left by Mrs. Katheryn Carlson, who was granted a year's leave of absence.

Conway was employed last year as a substitute for Mrs. Luvia Kilroy, who had a year's leave of absence.

Formal resignation of Mrs. Mabel Flindt was accepted.

The board tabled a plan submitted by Mayor Thomas H. Taylor to finance installation of lights at Pioneer park, although agreeing on the principle of the plan. It will be further discussed at Monday's budget meeting.

According to Taylor's plan the expense of installation of the lights, estimated at about $7,500, would be shared by the city and the two schools. District Attorney Vernon Stoll gave an opinion the two political units could legally enter into a cooperative financing agreement.

The board accepted a $285 bid from Trinity Episcopal church to purchase a school bus.

The board granted use of the high school gymnasium for another year to Company E, 184th Infantry, California National Guard.

FATHER GABRIELLE HONORED BEFORE HE DEPARTS FOR ROME

Rev. Father Virgil Gabriells, pastor of the Catholic parish that serves the ridge communities, is enroute to Rome, Italy, to participate in Holy Year ceremonies in the Catholic capital. Before he departed last week he was honored at a pot-luck dinner at the Downieville church with about 80 parish and non-parish friends attending.

Following a toast by Tony Lavazzola and response by the priest, Father Gabrielle was presented a generous purse to aid him on his journey.

The people of North San Juan also honored him with a pot-luck supper at the mission house in North San Juan on the eve of his departure. A. W. Atchinson served as master of ceremonies for the event.

Father Gabrielle serves the communities of North San Juan, Camptonville, Downieville, Alleghany, Birchville, Challenge, Sierra City, Goodyear's Bar and Cherokee.

Rev. Father Grossi of Sacramento will serve the communities while Father Gabrielle is in Europe.

WORK PARTY TONIGHT ON BALL DIAMOND

Volunteer work party will be at Pioneer park tonight at 6 p.m. to prepare the diamond for Sunday's game between the Lincoln Potters and the Nevada City Athletics to open the second half race of the Placer-Nevada baseball league.

The Nevada City Athletic club invites all persons interested in the national game to participate in the project. Garden rakes are an important tool for the job and volunteers are urged to bring them tonight.

ROCKS IN THE ROAD

One of the more asinine rumors we hear now and then whispers that Nevada county will lose its portion of Collier-Burns money if the supervisors don't quit meddling with the roads.

Nevada county receives Collier-Burns money on the basis of the money we pay in gasoline taxes, the money collected from us when we purchase auto licenses and a formula computing a basic amount per mile of county roads. The state has no more control over cutting us out of that money than it has to cut off our alcoholic beverage control funds which are sent to us on a basis of liquor sold in Nevada county. The state acts as collecting agent for the county and city on such items. Some of the money goes to build state highways, some comes back to build city and county roads. It's automatic.

The only conditions in the Collier-Burns act—section 2119—under which the state controller is authorized not to draw a warrant for the county are these: if the county has failed to establish a road fund (ours is established) or neglected or refused to file any report required by law, showing the amount of money received and the disposition thereof (and it's a function of Joe O'Connor to be sure such reports are made and filed).

The Collier-Burns act is one of the best pieces of legislation enacted in California. It sets up a road commissioner, answerable to the board of supervisors. They hire him and they can fire him. They set up general policies of roads, or in the formal language of section 2009, "The board shall determine the general policies of the county as to county highway matters and the same shall be carried out and administered by the road commissioner."

O'Connor is supposed to hire and fire personnel working in his department. But it certainly is the right and duty of the supervisors to make sure the persons he hires do a full day's work for a day's pay.

The entire trouble with the road department so far has been the theory of our old-line supervisors that the old way is best. They still want to make the road building decisions in their supervisorial districts. The Collier-Burns act destroys the concept of five road districts. In theory is gives Nevada county the machinery and adds to our funds for a county-wide road building program. That such a program never has been put to work actively in Nevada county is self-evident. There is no over-all planning program. We have the road work done in each supervisorial district where that supervisor wants it done. As a result we are continuing to get rat-hole filling and patch-work.

Nevada county is at that point where we either go ahead with inevitable overflow of the influx of people to California and develop our county, build good roads, make it attractive to home-builders, or we fight it and become the hill-billies of California. The goopy attitude that our roads are good enough now because they have been good enough for grandpa won't bring development to Nevada county.

Nevada county is paying for an overgrown WPA that seeks to control politics with roads rather than building roads to serve and develop the county. There is no economy involved. We are paying for the roads with every gallon of gas we buy, whether that money goes into good roads or chuck holes full of gravel. And we are paying over and over again for broken springs, loose fenders and jarred vehicles, and for driving away investment capital which would settle in Nevada county if we were made halfway acceptable.

If state officials are displeased with Nevada county's road building effort—and well they may be—they are only adding expressions of displeasure to the many made long and often by a great many residents of Nevada county.—kww.

THE SHERIFF'S RACE

Nevada county will have a new sheriff for the next four years—and a mandate from the electorate. Nevada county has long tolerated slot machines, probably still tolerates them, but does not want any implication or rumor of corruption, or implication or rumor of dictation of the county by a vice czar or racketeer.

For the past few years Californians have watched the Mickey Cohens, the Buggsy Sieglers, the cohorts of the eastern mobs move into the lush and growing state, and bring with them racketeering and all its evils—gangland slayings, bribery and threats, and flouting of the law.

And the great mass of Californians voiced their disapproval with their greatest weapon, and whether rightfully or not, removed from office incumbents upon whom fell the mantle of suspicion.—kww.

The natural flights of the human mind are not from pleasure to pleasure, but from hope to hope.—Samuel Johnson.

Human hope and faith should join in nature's grand harmony, and, if on minor key, make music in the heart.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Not Conducive to Efficiency

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder, oh glorious banner,
Floating out on the free winds above,
If our hearts are recording your message
Of justice and mercy and love.

This is flag week in our America and in its observance we greatly honor ourselves. We readily admit that our flag is the most beautiful one that flies in any land today and an inspection of other flags will verify our assertions. Renowned in song and story, the Star Spangled Banner has come to be recognized by all other nations as a symbol of justice, wisdom and mercy. We do well to acclaim it at all times and in all places.

Red of the sunset's splendor,
White of the snow crowned height,
Blue of the heavens above us,
Stars of the summer night,
Of these was our banner fashioned
As a symbol of freedom and right.

Let us look up this week and hail our flag wherever it is displayed. Let us remember its heroic origin and pay tribute in our hearts to the men and women who laid the foundations of our great nation and gave to us so beautiful and significant a symbol of its purposes. Let us resolve to uphold the dignity of our nation and of our flag, so that those less fortunate than ourselves may see a light shining through earth's darkness and find the paths that lead to peace and a true recognization of all that we are seeking to achieve.

Our flag symbolizes the truth that all men were created equal, that inherent in each human creature are the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Our flag knows no prejudices, it signifies no discriminations, knows no border, birth nor creed; under its folds all men are indeed equal; freedom and its rights are the privileges of all.

I hope that we may acclaim our flag with the heart and with the spirit; I hope that we may make ourselves worthy of so wonderful a symbol by discarding our intolerances and in practicing, not a negative tolerance, but a vital and positive tolerance which has within it the thought of lifting up and aiding those less fortunate than we ourselves. This way lies wisdom and of all the attributes of man, wisdom is at the present time the greatest one to be desired.

Ignorance and superstition are the parents of bigotry and intolerance and together with hate, envy, spite, greed and other demons that beset our minds, they combine to produce persecution, injustice and in fact, all the evils which have afflicted humanity since the first man stepped down from his ancestral tree and gazed upon a world that was good, until he made it evil.

Let us strive to be truly worthy of our beautiful banner, let us cast away our moth-eaten prejudices and stand unashamed in the presence of this great symbol of human hope and happiness. Let us not degrade ourselves and our flag by unworthy thoughts, words and actions; let us resolve that insofar as we are able the integrity of our land and of our flag will be forever sacrosanct.

Let us above all renew our faith in our country and in our flag, let us truly believe that the storms will pass, that the sun will shine again above this harrassed world and that our country and our flag will lead in the march toward the better day of which we dream.

ADELINE MERRIAM CONNER.

NID SELLS WATER TO MINE FOR 16 CENTS

The Nevada Irrigation District which for the past two years has been bickering with the cities of Nevada City and Grass Valley on water rates, agreed to furnish 80 miners inches of water to the Willow Valley Mining company, near Nevada City, at a rate of 16 cents a miners inch on a 24-hour basis. The rate is the same the two communities have had on contract for 24 years.

Forrest Varney, manager of the NID, has stated water rates to the two communities will probably be tripled upon expiration of the contract at the end of next year.

Request for water for the mining group was made by Carl J. Tobiassen, who is in charge of the grounds of the mining company.

On a suggestion by Herbert J. Nile, member of the board of directors of the NID, Charles Law, district engineer, will conduct a survey of existing domestic services to determine condition and cost data for future repairs and extensions.

In other actions of the board at a regular meeting Friday in Grass Valley, the bid of Paul Viles was accepted to furnish a half-ton GMC pickup truck for the district.

EARLY DAY GEOGRAPHY EXPLAINS CREATION OF WORLD BY QUOTING GENESIS; NEVADA CITY WAS ELEVENTH IN POPULATION RANK FOR THE STATE

In the Nevada County Historical Museum on Main street is a copy of the 1876 edition of Monteith's Physical and Political Geography and bears the name of Nora McArthur on the inside cover. The book is rather ragged and badly in need of rebinding but it has a wealth of information interesting to the modern generation.

From it we learn that Nevada City ranked eleventh in population in California for the 1870 census with Grass Valley in sixth place. According to the 1940 census Nevada City ranks 215th in California. San Francisco ranked tenth in the nation in population in 1870. Nevada City counted 3,986 persons and Grass Valley had 7,063. The population of the other nine leaders of the state were San Francisco, 149,473; Sacramento, 16,283; Oakland, 10,500; Stockton, 10,066; San Jose, 9,089; Vallejo, 6,391; Los Angeles, 5,728; Marysville, 4,738; Petaluma, 4,588.

In 1870 there were only 15 cities in the U. S. with more than 100,000 population—the 1940 census revealed 92. Rank of the top 15 in 1870 with their 1940 rank in parentheses is as follows: New York (1), Philadelphia (3), Brooklyn (now part of New York), St. Louis (8), Chicago (2), Baltimore (7), Boston (9), Cincinnati (17), New Orleans (15), San Francisco (12), Pittsburgh (10), Buffalo (14), Washington (11), Newark (18), and Louisville (25).

Virginia with 7,048 was the largest city in Nevada, with Gold Hill and Hamilton second and third. All three are practically memories today.

We find some errors probaby due to faulty surveys and incomplete data. Mt. Whitney is listed 88 feet higher than in current geographies. Mt. McKinley along with the future president was unknown in 1870. Mt. Ranier (as it was spelled) in Washington territory was estimated at 8,000 feet altitude. The map shows Dorris as the county seat of Modoc in the present location of Alturas. Whether it is an error or whether the town of Dorris moved to its present location in Siskiyou county we do not know.

There were 52 counties in California in 1870, the counties of today unheard of then being Glenn, Madera, Kings, Riverside, Imperial and Orange. Part of Humboldt today was Siskiyou county giving it a seacoast in the Trinidad area. Humboldt City was the seat of Humboldt county and Shasta City the seat of Shasta county. Both have disappeared as communities, the seats of county government having been taken over by Eureka and Redding. Silver Mountain City is now Markleeville and San Buenaventura has been chopped to Ventura.

Prominent communities of 1870 that have disappeared or nearly so include Orleans Bar, Canon City, Grove City, Coloma, Monoville, Snellings, Benton, Owensville, Millerton, Scottsburgh, San Antonio, Woodville, Havilah, Keysville, Brooklyn, Dutch Flat, Fort Yuma and Pescadero.

According to the map railroad mileage in California was not too high, the main line of the Central Pacific being the principal trackage. The coast line ran a few miles south of Salinas from where a stagecoach line continued to Paso Robles and crossed the Lost Hills to Famosa where it connected with another rail line that ran from Stockton to Bakersfield. Stage coaches connected the Kern county city with the east and Los Angeles where there were a few isolated tracks. What is now the Northwestern Pacific went only as far as Healdsburg. The Cascade branch of the present-day Southern Pacific ran as far as Shasta City from where stages operated into Oregon. The coastal towns of Crescent City, Humboldt City, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, San Buenaventura and San Diego were served only by ship.

Young Miss McArthur had to answer these questions when she finished studying about California: Can you answer them? What latitudes form the northern and southern boundaries? What is the length of the state? What two large rivers drain the great valley? What is the largest river in the northwest part of the state? What river empties into Monterey bay? What is the largest lake in the state? Name eight bays. Bound Nevada county. What is the state capital? Name the counties. Draw an outline of the state, and locate at least 14 mountain peaks, 24 rivers, 20 lakes, 8 bays, 8 islands, and all 52 counties and their seats. Kind of a rough go, isn't it?

Incidentally California led the nation in production of gold, wine, wool, quicksilver, silk and grapes. Nevada led in silver.

Monteith's Geography explained the creation of the earth by quoting almost verbatim the Genesis books of the Israelite Bible. And taught for his first two points that "God made the world," and "He made it for the use of man."

Apparently the forerunner of the California Chamber of Commerce had a hand in the book. Appearing under the climate section is the statement, "California possesses a more even and delightful climate than any other part of the world."

Animal life in 1870 was classified from Radiates, to Mollusks, Articulates, Fishes, Reptiles, Mammals and Man.

The book gives an answer to the why of man (for the glory and edification of God) and proclaims the superiority of the white race and brooks no questioning.

31 BOYS ENTER COASTER DERBY TO BE RUN JULY 3

Thirty-one speed minded boys have entered coasters in the Nevada City Fourth of July coaster derby, according to I. C. Bell, chairman of the derby committee. Beel said there are nine vacancies still remaining in the contest set for Monday morning, July 3, during the Nevada City Fourth of July Centennial Celebration.

Bell announced that cash prizes of $10 and $5 will be given first place winners in the two main events and lesser cash prizes will be given winners in the series of six or more heats.

Several Grass Valley boys have entered the contest and Bell is hoping to have entries file from North San Juan, Rough and Ready and other communities of the county.

Nevada City businessmen have contributed approximately $400 for purchase of wheels for the derby coasters.

Junior pilots between the ages of 11 and 16 are urged to contact Bell immediately so they can get to work on the coasters.

Bell said there may be the possibility that coaster owners can enter a race this fall. Bell said it may be possible to plan a road race from the top of Sugar Loaf mountain to the Plaza.

Miss Norma Scholefield Is June Bride

Miss Norma Scholefield of Nevada City and Clifford Dean Hyatt of Grass Valley became bride and groom at a candlelight ceremony Sunday evening at Trinity Episcopal church. Rev. Max L. Christensen, rector of the church, read the marriage lines.

Harry Scholefield, father of the bride, escorted her to a gladioli-decorated altar. She looked very lovely in her bridal gown made of white Skinner's satin. The full ruffled skirt had a full length train and the neck-line was in the off-the-shoulder mode. The Juliet cap of satin and seed pearls held the finger-tip veil in place. A white orchid centered the bridal bouquet of white gardenias from which white satin streamers flowed.

Mrs. Beverly Kilroy, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a gown of light blue dotted nylon.

Bridesmaids were Joyce Lee, formerly of Nevada City and now residing in Guerneville, Joanne Hefelfinger, Donna Hyatt, sister of the groom, Nancy Scholefield, sister of the bride, and Jennie Lamson. They wore identical gowns of dotted nylon in pastel shades of nile green, lavender and yellow with flowered headdresses matching the bouquets they carried.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woods' small daughter, Adele, was the flower girl, and she wore a light pink gown. Dennis Wood, younger brother of Adele, carried the two rings on a white satin cushion towards the altar. He wore a white gabardine suit.

Melvin Hamilton, Sacramento, was best man.

Jerry Peterson, William Kilroy, Robert Ramey, Fred Smith and Fred Richardson were ushers.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh, Perfect Love" were sung by Everett Brott of Grass Valley and accompanied by Mrs. Luella Anderson.

The parish hall was the scene of the reception.

Mrs. Scholefield, mother of the bride, wore a royal blue taffeta formal.

Mrs. Neil West of Sutcliffe, Nev., Mrs. Nat Mace of Camino, and Mrs. Harriett Swyssig of Nicolaus, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the refreshment table.

The bride has been attending Placer college in Auburn since she was graduated from Nevada City high school with the class of 1949. While there she has been majoring in music. She is a also a member of Evangeline Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Lionettes and Lions Have Very Busy Week

Lions and Lionettes of Nevada City have been as busy as usual, since last Saturday night when they met at the Seaman's lodge for an old-fashioned dance which they hold the second Saturday of each month for the members and their friends. Sunday a large crowd attended a broiled chicken dinner held at Central House by the Lions. This was an annual barbecue and the proceeds went towards the Camp Califia fund.

Despite the unsettled weather, baseball games, races and other interesting sports were enjoyed by both young and old. Each child went home happily with a gift.

The Lions plan to hold Wednesday night dinner meetings at Camp Califia in the future and in this way do necessary work toward completion of the five-year project. Weather permitting the members will also donate assistance on Sundays.

1951 FAIR WILL BE HELD DURING MID-SEPTEMBER

Members of the 17th District Agricultural association have tentatively set the 1951 fair dates for Sept. 13 to 16, pending official approval at the Mother Lode area meeting in Placerville Wednesday. The action was taken at the Tuesday evening meeting of the directors in Grass Valley.

The action will not conflict with the 1950 dates set for Aug. 24 to 27.

The directors conducted a preliminary discussion of a timber and lumber demonstration expected to be one of the principal educational and entertainment features of the fair.

The demonstration, according to Loyle Freeman, manager of the fair, will include limbing, topping, falling, bucking and possibly cutting the logs into lumber. The trees to be fallen, Freeman said, will be those which must be cleared or thinned and will not be in violation of the fair's policy of saving all possible trees for shade and beautification of the grounds.

Fair officials will seek the aid of the state division of forestry, Tahoe national forest, the Grass Valley high school forestry class, soil conservation service, and the Nevada County Conservation Council.

$3,500 PAID RED LEDGE MINE FOR ROAD RIGHTS

The board of supervisors Wednesday agreed to pay $3,500 to the Red Ledge mining company near Washington for additional rights-of-way through the mining property required for completion of the Washington road.

A $146,732 contract for construction of the road from highway 20 to Washington was let this month by the California department of public works to the Huntington Brothers of San Anselmo.

In other actions by the board Wednesday the supervisors appointed Ray Scott to fill the unexpired term of C. B. White as trustee of the Truckee cemetery district.

The board, Ralph E. Deeble, clerk, and George S. Lowry, welfare director, toured the court house studying space requirements and availability for the welfare department.

Rent on the Commercial street building now housing part of the welfare department is being paid by the state until the first of July when control and responsibility for the department returns to the county. Members of the board consider the rent of the Commercial street location too high and are seeking cheaper quarters.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION ON HIGHWAY 20 RESUMES

Construction on realignment of highway 20 on the western slope of Bear valley which began last year has been resumed by the Yuba City contracting firm of Richter and Darrough.

Joseph E. Wood, resident engineer of the bureau of public roads, who is in charge of engineering and inspection of the project, has opened an office at 209 Commercial street which will remain open until the project is completed.

Contract deadline for completion of the project is Aug. 15, and work is reportedly 70 percent completed.

BIBLE COMMENT
FOR JUNE 25

True Greatness Is Misunderstood By Many of Us

THE meaning of true greatness is a lesson which many of us find difficult to learn. The mistaken interpretation of the term, however, is not original with us.

Some of the 12 whom Jesus chose for His inner circle of disciples, if not all of them, showed at times such an amazing misunderstanding of their Master and His spirit that one wonders how they ever came to be His followers at all.

Perhaps the strong incentive was their belief that Jesus was about to set up a kingdom.

And at this stage of the ministry of Jesus, their minds and hearts were full of this earthly kingdom. In journeying to Capernaum, for example, they had been disputing with one another about which of them was great.

Kindly, mildly, Jesus admonished them, teaching them the lesson of true greatness. He enforced it by setting a little child in the midst to remind them that they must become as little children if they would find their true place in His kingdom.

And all this Jesus made more plain by a specific act, as well by His general example, when He washed the disciples' feet. The fact that this incident occurred near the very end of the ministry of Jesus shows how slow the disciples were in learning.

But in this respect, aren't we all? There is no lesson that the world of men, and even the world of professing Christians, learns with more difficulty than that concerning the true meaning of greatness.

Too many of us are prone to seek a small personal kingdom as a manifestation of our own greatness. And by so doing, we sometimes lose sight of the true and only greatness—that of the kingdom of God.

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS:
By CLAIR ENGLE

Vital Decision on Water Rights

A case of special importance to the people of California was decided last week by the supreme court. It was U. S. vs. Gerlach, in which the question was presented as to whether or not riparian owners along the San Joaquin river could require compensation from the federal government for the loss of their water rights caused by the construction of Friant dam and the consequent diversion of the normal flow of the river. The supreme court held that the federal government was required to compensate for the lost riparian water rights.

For many years there has been a grave question as to the effect on existing water rights of the building of a federal reclamation project. The Central Valley Project in California is a good illustration both on the San Joaquin River and the Sacramento River. The question was whether or not the building of the Central Valley Project gave the federal government title or control over the waters of those rivers.

Land Owners Protected

The Supreme Court decision in the Gerlach case is a milestone of immense importance because it makes plain once and for all that the building of a federal reclamation project does not limit or take away water rights of private land owners acquired under state law. If such water rights are adversely affected by a reclamation project, they must be compensated for.

More importantly, the decision for the first time, so far as I know, sets forth the power of the federal government to enter upon large-scale reclamation projects under the general welfare clause of the constitution of the United States. The Central Valley Project of California was authorized under the commerce clause of the constitution, dealing with the power of congress over navigation and navigable streams. The Supreme Court said in the Gerlach case that congress had the power to authorize the project under the general welfare clause of the constitution.

Federal Liability Broadened

The difference is this: Many decisions have held that the federal government is not responsible to private owners of land or water for losses due to the exercise by congress of the constitutional power over navigation and navigable streams. This placed in grave doubt the water rights of private owners on navigable streams on which federal projects are in operation since they have all been authorized under the power of congress to deal with navigation on navigable streams. The decision placing the source of authority for these reclamation projects under the general welfare clause of the constitution changes all that.

There is no limitation on the liability of the federal government for taking private rights when exercising the general welfare clause of the constitution. In short, then, reclamation in the U. S. since the Gerlach case is on much safer ground both from the standpoint of the constitutional authority under which those projects are built by the federal government, and for the landowners, who can be assured of compensation for any loss of firm water rights due to a reclamation project. This decision, then, clearly lays at rest the fears of those whose firm water rights under state law might be affected by the Central Valley Project on the Sacramento and the San Joaquin rivers, and extension of the Central Valley Project to the American river system, or in the future any other river or navigable stream in the state.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Oh—My Aching Feet!

Other night just as I was settling down with a book and a mellow glass of beer, the wife calls down, "Joe—I almost forgot—you and I are going over to the High School and take dancing lessons!"

Now, I can waltz with the best of them, so I put up a quiet struggle against going but it was no use. Turns out it was the class in square dancing. And from the look on some of the other men I judged I wasn't the only one there who had been taken by surprise!

Miss Williams and Curly Lawson taught us what to do with our feet, and before it was over, darn if I wasn't actually enjoying myself. Going back next week, too!

From where I sit, we sometimes get an idea into our head for or against something and then hang onto it for dear life. Whether it's square dancing, or the right to enjoy temperate beer or ale now and then, we owe it to ourselves as Americans to take an open-minded attitude — that's even after we make up our minds about it!

Mrs. Hilda B. Caddy, Grass Valley, filed suit in the Nevada county superior court, against Clarence Rowe, executor of the estate of Christopher C. Crase, asking $2,150 and return of 1937 Oldsmobile coupe, plaintiff alleges belongs to her.

Mrs. Caddy charges Rowe has had possession of the vehicle since Sept. 25, 1947. She asks return of the vehicle plus $650 for damages due to depreciation and $1,500 to compensate for loss of use of the automobile to date.

Vernon Stoll, Grass Valley, is attorney for plaintiff.

Marcum asks $2,500 personal damages, $540 for loss of earnings, $548 for repair of his automobile, and $77.50 for loss of articles in vehicle.

Smith asks $2,500 personal damages and $600 for loss of earnings.

The plaintiffs charge the accident was caused by negligence in parking of the Sherritt automobile on the highway.

LINCOLN OPENS SECOND HALF HERE SUNDAY

The second half of the Placer-Nevada baseball league will get underway this weekend with all teams starting with clean records. The league is playing split season this year with the winner of the first half playing the winner of the second half for the league championship.

The Lincoln Potters and the Roseville Merchants are tied for the first half championship unless President Charles Gallagher orders a replay of last Sunday's protested Lincoln-Placerville contest won by the Bartletts 4-3.

The Potters protested after the umpire sent a Placerville batter to first base on a balk, although the Potters did not protest until the inning was over and a runner who advanced to second on the balk scored what proved to be the winning run.

The league directors will meet in Auburn Tuesday evening to arrange a playoff between Roseville and Lincoln and to set a date for the postponed Truckee-Nevada City game.

The Potters invade the Pioneer park diamond Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in what should be an excellent game of baseball. The Athletics were slow in starting beating only Grass Valley and Placerville during the first half, but in all games except the Roseville game the Athletics held a lead in late innings only to blow and lose.

Manager Steve "Gashouse" Pelayo of the Athletics and Shuper of the Potters announce following starting line-ups for Sunday's game:

Potters	Athletics
Bellott, cf	Jones, lf
Santini, ss	Seay, rf
Testa, 2b	Childers, 1b
Noyes, 3b	Goldsberry, ss
Vorous, 1b	Deward, cf
Padilla, rf	Fouyer, c
Airo, lf	Haddy, 2b
Williams, c	Wojack, 3b
Carnesecca, p	Roath, p

Pelayo, who was booted out as manager of the Grass Valley ball club this spring, is reportedly being approached to return to the Braves as manager following the recent floundering of the Grass Valley team in the Placer-Nevada league race.

Pelayo, who has a reputation of constantly building a team, believes the Athletics will be one of the principal contenders for the second half bunting of the league.

SAWIN REPORTS ON DREDGING TO CHMA

Dredging operations of Alaska and California were described by H. A. Sawin, manager of the Yuba Manufacturing company, a leading manufacturer of dredging machinery at Sunday's meeting of the California Hydraulic Mining Association in Auburn.

George W. Hallock, president of the association, announced the next meeting will be held as a picnic at Scotts Flat Dam Sunday, July 9, with Jay Carpenter of the Nevada bureau of mines and head of the mining department of the University of Nevada as guest speaker.

WINCH AND WINCE

We have a report that one of Grass Valley's more ardent fishermen wanted to be the first to inveigle the fish of French lake so he laboriously winched his vehicle three miles into the isolated lake only to find it frozen and impossible to fish.

California's total lead production since the metal was first mined in the 1860s has amounted to about one-half of one percent of the national total.

$1,500 PLEDGED FOR SWIMMING POOL AT SCOTTS FLAT CAMP

Local businessmen pledged 30 non-interest bearing bonds of $50 each toward the completion of a swimming pool at Camp Califia, Scotts Flat girl scout camp, according to I. C. Bell, local realtor, and chairman of the bond drive.

The drive got underway Thursday at a luncheon meeting of the Nevada City Rotary club with pledges by the club and members. Bell obtained the final pledge Saturday.

Funds raised in the campaign will be used to buy material for the pool. Labor will be furnished by members of the Nevada City Lions club and necessary equipment will be donated by Grady Campbell, Grass Valley contractor.

Completion of the pool, Bell said, will make the camp available to several organizations in the northern part of the state which have expressed a desire to use the facilities providing a swimming pool was available.

SON OF PIONEER BORN HERE IS NO DEMOCRAT

A recent visitor in Nevada City was Elbert A. Reynolds, a real estate man of Fortuna, getting acquainted with the birthplace of his father who was born in Nevada City in 1851.

Reynolds left us a little poem which if it proves nothing else definitely stamps him as no Democrat:

Glad Somebody's Waking Up

"Father, must I go out to work?"
"No! No! My darling son.
We're living now on Easy street
With funds from Washington.

We're cared for well by Uncle Sam
So don't get exorcised,
We don't need to care a damn
Because we're subsidized."

"But if he treats us all so well,
And gives us milk and honey,
Please tell me truly, where the hell
He's going to get the money?"

"Don't worry, child, there is no hitch
About the glorious plan.
He'll get the money from the rich
To help the common man."

"But, Father, won't there come a time,
If we take all their cash,
And they're left without a dime
When things will go to smash?"

"I tell you, you need seasoning,
You nosey little brat;
You do too darn much reasoning
To be a Democrat!"

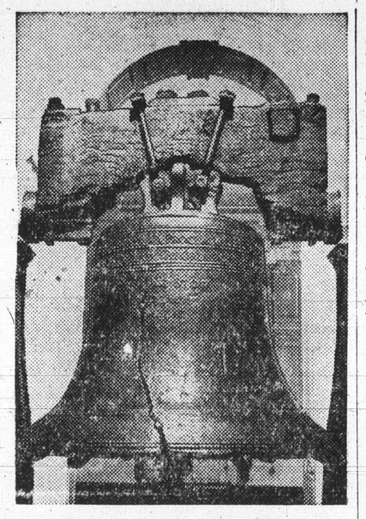
LIBERTY BELL IS SCHEDULED TO RING TONIGHT

An exhibit of historic importance will be in Nevada City tonight at 7:30 in the form of an exact replica of the original Liberty bell, according to Kenneth



N. Adams, assistant county chairman of the U. S. Independence Bond drive.

A program in front of the Elks hall on Pine street will precede ringing of the bell. Selections by a Nevada City band and comments by Mayor Thomas H. Taylor and Albert Keeney will be on the program. Musical selections and the American Legion drum and bugle corps will round out the entertainment.

This liberty bell will be given to the state of California at the conclusion of the drive July 4. This bell that Nevada City residents will hear and see during its appearance today is exactly like the original Liberty bell even to its tone.

The original liberty bell was cast in England some two hundred years ago. When John W. Snyder, secretary of the treasury, announced the Independence Bond drive would be symbolized by the liberty bell, six of America's copper producers volunteered to have 52 exact replicas of the liberty bell made, to highlight the drive—May 15 to July 4.

Because the U. S. lacked a bell factory that could produce the number of bells in time for the drive, they were produced in Annecy, France, where the art of bell making has been practiced for centuries. The bells weigh 2,080 pounds each and are 85 percent copper.

Bellmasters throughout the nation have examined the duplicates and assert that because of the exact similarity of structure to the original bell, the replicas have the same sound that was heard in Philadelphia in 1776.

CITY TAKING ON GALA APPEARANCE FOR FETE

Ray Spickelmier, celebration chairman, said the company will also remove the bunting and decorations after the celebration. The cost will be $750 but is not payable until removal of the flags.
